

Catherine de Baillon's Armorial for Her Byzantine Gateway

Heraldry Research and Artwork by John P. DuLong

Catherine de Baillon descends from the imperial Byzantine family of Lascaris through the Franco-Italian Vintimille family. Through this gateway her descendants can trace their descent from a number of Byzantine emperors and notable houses. It is possible to find the arms used by many of her ancestors along this lineage, but unfortunately a few maternal arms are unknown or do not exist.

Paternal Arms	Couple	Maternal Arms
I The Mivilles were non-armigerous	Catherine de Baillon and Jacques Miville dit Deschênes , married 12 November 1669, Notre-Dame de Québec, she was the daughter of:
II 	Louise de Marle and Alphonse de Baillon , sieur of La Mascotterie, married about 1630/1640, Chevreuse region (Yvelines), île de France, she was the daughter of:
III 	Anne Bizet and Mathurin de Marle , seigneur of Vaugien, of Ragonant, and of Vacheresse, married around 1610, Chevreuse region, she was the daughter of:	Arms unknown
IV Arms unknown	Marguerite Chabot de Souville and Jean Bizet , seigneur of Paponville (or Raponville), married about 1570/1580, she was the daughter of:
V 	Antoine Chabot (or Chabaud), sieur of La Fond, from Provence, and Catherine Lombart (or Lombard), marriage contract, 30 March 1554, Paris, he was the son of:

Paternal Arms

Couple

Maternal Arms

VI

Jean Chabaud, seigneur of Tourrettes, of Peillon, of La Roque St-André, and of Châteauneuf, and Louise (or Louisette) de Berre, married in 1519 in the region of Nice, he was the son of:

VII

Baptistine de Lascaris de Vintimille and Pierre Chabaud, seigneur of Tourrettes, of Peillon, of La Roque St-André, and of Châteauneuf, married around 1470/1480, she was the daughter of:

VIII

Charles de Lascaris de Vintimille, co-seigneur of the Briga, and Jeannette Liti, dame of Bonson and of La Roquette du Var, married around 1430/1440, he was the son of:

The Litis were non-armigerous

IX

Rainier de Lascaris de Vintimille, co-seigneur of the Briga, and Madeleine Grimaldi, married around 1400/1410, he was the son of:

X

Louis de Lascaris de Vintimille, seigneur of the Briga, and Tiburge Grimaldi de Beuil, married about 1370/1380, he was the son of:

XI

Guillaume Pierre II de Lascaris de Vintimille, count of Vintimille and of Tende, seigneur of Roquebrune and of the Briga, and an unnamed woman, married about 1330/1340, he was the son of:

Unknown

Paternal Arms

Couple

Maternal Arms

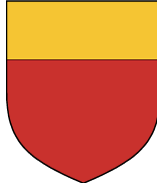

XII

Jean de Lascaris de Vintimille, count of Vintimille and of Tende, and an unnamed woman, married around 1290/1300/1310, he was the son of:

Unknown

XIII

Eudoxie Lascaris (Eudoxia Lascarina) and Guillaume Pierre I de Lascaris de Vintimille, count of Vintimille, seigneur of Tende, married before the Winter of 1262 or in 1263, she was the daughter of:

XIV

Theodoros II Dukas Lascaris, vice-regent of Asia Minor in 1238, co-emperor in 1241, Roman emperor of the Orient at Nicea on 30 October 1254, crowned in 1255, and Helen of Bulgaria, married in the Spring of 1235.

No known arms for house of Asen, the tsars of Bulgaria, in the 13th century

Notes:

Pierre Miville dit Le Suisse, the father of Jacques Miville dit Deschênes, is not known to have used any arms. His descendants (L'Association Les descendants de Pierre Miville) adopted arms for their group around 1987. You can view these arms and learn the meaning of its parts at <http://www.miville.com/crest.htm>.

Source:

René Jetté, John Patrick DuLong, Roland-Yves Gagné, Gail F. Moreau, and Joseph A. Dubé. Table d'ascendance de Catherine Baillon (12 générations). Montréal: Société généalogique canadienne-française, 2001.

Heraldry Artwork: Done using Adobe Illustrator and Armorial Gold Heraldry Clipart.